++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Periodically rather cloudy with a little rain. Breezy.

Today:
Breezy, with a succession of cloudier periods and light rain and drizzle making eastward progress across all parts, followed by some brighter interludes by Friday afternoon. On the mild side, although tempered by the changeable conditions and the wind. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Tonight:
Cloudy, damp and breezy during the evening. Both the wind and rain should ease later in the night, although it should remain rather cloudy. Minimum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Saturday:
Brighter and less windy on the whole compared to Friday. Probably remaining rather cloudy however, this especially true in the far east, with a few light showers most likely here. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
A little cooler than of late and on the cloudy side with a little light rain possible at times. Some chilly, perhaps foggy, starts likely given lighter winds.
